REMBRANDT FOODS

Company Overview

We are a leading supplier of value added egg product for the food ingredient and food service industry. We boast one of the most integrated egg production systems in the industry by controlling every step in egg production systems in the industry by controlling every step in egg production and egg reprocessing. Thus, we assure our customers the highest level of quality and food safety. Our egg products are some of the freshest available—usually they are processed and packaged the same day. We start with a baby chick that we nurture into life. In our feed mill, we mix in grains that we buy direct from local farmers - but only after they have been thoroughly tested for quality and residues. Our egg processing facilities are typically located on site, so the eggs are not handled or transported. Within hours of being produced, the eggs are typically pasteurized and processed into a variety of nutritious products and sold to our worldwide customers. We also return fertilizer back to our farmer partners, who grow the grain to supply Rembrandt with corn and soybeans the following year. We work hard to listen to our customers and provide the best value egg solutions. We also invest back in the community, providing opportunities for our employees and our partners. By bringing a passion for eggs to everything we do, we strive to delight our customers.
